The reputation of these steamships is now thoroughly established, as staunch, reliable and swift vessels, and they are commanded by two of the most experienced, skillful, and cautions mariners on the whole chain of Lakes, Messrs. McBuion and Cross. There is, therefore, every reason to believe that the reopening of this attractive passenger route between the Rast and West will bring a large tide of travel through our city which might otherwise pass through other channels.

Madison, Feb. 21, 1860. Dean Sentingli-There was a very singular phenomenon visible in the Eastern Heavens, yesterday. It was the more noticecan hardly describe it. It hung near the horizon and was preceded by a warm sulphurous breeze. The centre of the object was of a fiery inflamed color, as if some iptense internal fire were burning a hole through the sky. From the center irradia ted long dark substances, resembling clouds called "Mare's Tails," and, according to the erudite Webster, indicating rain. Some graceless scamp suggested that it must have been Larraber's Lig whiskers. But that can't be, for how can you account for this inflamed appearance in the centre, unless the "dapper little man" has been coming all the way from Washington with his month wide open?

LARKABEE is in town. He came on here I understand, to ask the Legislature to "allow his name to be pressed" for Vice-President. As a friend of "our ELIJAH," I confidentially advised him to stop on the job at Washington, and watch those appropriation bilis for improving the harbors on the Lake shore. But he has given up the harbor improvement business and gone into laying pipe. He traded off his principles in truckling to the Southern Know-Nothings, to se cure his election as Speaker and "fluramuxsales on it, and now he wants a nower of attorney to trade off Wisconsin at Charleston. Let the "little cuse" have the "power" at once. I'm anxious about the harbors, and fear that the bill will be lost unless he gets back and puts his Titapie shoulders to the wheel and lifts it over. I expect there will be a jully time in the Democratic Convention to-morrow. It is "Old Fogy" against "Young America." The Republicans are like the man who saw a fight, between a rattiesnake and an unsayory animal with white on the tip of its tail-they don't care who

The Supreme Court to-day gave a indgment of ouster as regards Judge Foote of the law establishing this Court, being a public act, had not been officially published as the constitution requires, and was not therefore in effect when Judge Foote was elected. LATER.

Your Committee would further state that Your Committee would further state that their reasons for not reporting this deficiency hefore, has been that they were unable to find the bonds of Mr. Schwarting, and as he promised the committee to pay over the balance, it was thought best to give him the opportunity of doing so, and it will be seen that he has paid over form time to time, so that since the committee commenced examination, his indebtedness to the city has been reduced to $8,723 15, which balance he now promises shall be paid very soon.

It may not be amiss here to state that Mr. Schwarting's Bonds, so far as your Committee can learn, were sent by him to the Common Council for their approval, and by them referred to the City Attorney, Geo. New York, Feb. 21—3 P. M.

The Tribure's Washington Correspondent says: Senator Polk having returned, there is a majority on committee of foreign relations favorable to reporting the Mexican treaty, but as the prospect of ratification is discouraging no movement will probably be made until the arrival of Senor Otampo, who is expected in about three weeks, with the fullest discretion to accept whatever modifications may promise its success. The some mittee on ways and means reported the fortifications and Indian appropriation bills to-day, and will complete others by the beginning of next week, thus clearing that calender preparatory to a general legislation. Improductly afterwards the tariff will be taken up with the intention of bringing forward at moderate and well considered bill, founded! mediately afterwards the tariff will be taken up with the intention of bringing forward at moderate and well considered bill, founded on the best practical information, and having stability and proper discrimination for leading ideas. The friends of protection do not ask any excessive measures, but a tariff which will afford revenue and encouragement to suffering industry.

These were read and explained. One of them requested him to see W. Phillips and others, and wished them to meet. him (Brown) at Tabor, Iowa, on very important business. He showed the letter to Phillips, and asked him what the meeting was for. He said he did not know, but he could not attend. No one mentioned in the letter attended that meeting.

He had never received arms or ammunition from any quarter, nor supplied them to any one. The only allusion which Brown ever made to his invasion of Virginia, was when he was leaving Kansas for the last time. Mr. Wattles being sick, Brown called to see him, when Mr. W. expressed his regret that he had been into Missouri and taken slaves, and prescelly conducted the villing of and especially condemned the killing of Cruiss. Brown replied that he was stopping at a house on the Little Osage, when the men went down to liberate Ben Rice. It chanced that a poor colored man came along looking for some one to help him to get his wife and children out of slavery in Missouri. wife and children out of slavery in Missouri. He was then told that another company went to another place and brought away four, and in doing so, had killed one man to save their lives.

Brown replied that he regretted it exceedingly. The taking of human life was a terrible thing, but he continued, "I have considered the matter well—you will have no more inroads from Missouri. The poor people of Kansas have suffered enough—my ple of Kansas have suffered enough—my heart bleeds for them—now I see it is my duty

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—9.P. M.
HOUSS—On motion of Mr. Grow, the Select Committee on Printing, Engraving and Binding, was authorized to employ a clerk.

Mr. Smith, of N. C., corrected certain erroneous and unjust impressions existing in the public mind, growing out of the contest for the Speakership. He had never been a member of the American organization, but was still a Whig, and had been elected on broad national grounds; but he did not say he denounced the American party and repudiated its principles, some of which commanded his approbation, but they had nothing proscriptive in them.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 22, 1860 REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION. A Republican State Convention will be held at the Capitol in Madison, on Wednesday, the 29th day of February, 1560, at 12 o'clock M., to choose four detegates from the State at large, and two from each Congressional District, to represent the State of Wisconsin in the Kepublican National Convention to be held at Chicago on the 18th of next June, to nominate two candidates for presidential electors for the State at large; to adopt such action as may be deemed advisable in view of the approaching election of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State; and for the transaction of such other business as may be thought calculated to advance the interests of the party and promote the Success of its principles.

Each Assembly District of the State will be entitled

Dated Madison, Dec. 29, 1859, The Republican Candidate for the Presidency The Free Democrat of Monday contains ome remarks touching the Republican nomination for the Presidency, from which we take the following:

take the following:

The First and Seventh Wards instructed their delegates to Mational Convention, favorable to Wm. If. Seward for the Presidency. We have no objection to all the delegates to Convention being friendly to Seward for the Presidency, but we should look upon it as partients rly unfortunate to have them tied up with any positive instructions.—The troth is, as we have always contended, that our blate Convention is called about two months too carly, and the visses thing it could do would be to adjourn, notif about the first of May, or even the first of June would not be too late. In 1856 there was a complete resolution, or a clear conpentration of public opinion, within the last two months preceding the National Convention. We believe there will be on this occasion—In Fabruary of 1856, the public sentiment of the State was as clearly in favor of Seward as now, while in June et as clearly pointed to another individual as the better nowline.

In 1856 we think that public sentiment in this State, in June as well as in February, was clearly in favor of the nemination of Gov. SEWARD, and our delegation to Philadelphia were prepared to give him their unanimous vote. His withdrawal, however, as a candidate, followed by that of Gov. Chase, of Ohio, who was their second choice, left them to choose between Col. FREMONT and Judge McLxax, and they voted for the former in undoubted conformity to the prevailing sentiment of the State.

Now, as in 1856, we think that the Republicans of Wisconsin are very earnest and unanimous in favor of Gov. SEWARD'S nomination; and we hold that this preference should be faithfully represented in the delegation to the Chicago Convention. The matter of "instructions" is of no special consequence, provided that reliable, intelligent and influential men are chosen delegates. And we think that this choice can as well be made at the State Convention next week, as at any later period; for should any revolution occur in public opinion, between now and the assembling of the Chicago Convention, our delegates to that body would not fail to respect it. The subjoined views as to the selection of a Presidential candidate, seem to us forci-

From the Eccaing Post of Wednesday. It is evident, then, that the Republican party ought to elect its Presidential candidates from among its own men, and not to go outside of its own ranks under any consideration whatever. If these opponents of the administration who have no stable expanization of their own are its earnest in what they profess, they will have no difficulty in voting for such men as we can present. But if they insist upon our taking their men as the sole condition of their votes, it will show that they are not sincere in their co-operation, but in fact had rather see includence and the properties are to specific them.

Washington's Farewell Address—I suggestion has been made to Pleiadelphia, that the approaching 20nd of February should be celebrated by reading Washington's Farewell Address in every city, town, white and neighborhood in the United States, as a measure that would be likely to have an excellent effect at this time. This is a good idea, and we hope the suggestion will neet with tavor lare. If such a custom was annually observed throughout the United States, we should soon and something date to think and talk about, than disjustify to the Union.—News.

dent of the Erening Post writes as follows from Philadelphia:—"As the result of close observation and inquiry during the ten days that I have been a sojourner in this city, I am led to believe what I have heretofore donbted, namely, that Pennsylvania is much more likely to east her Presidential vote next fall for the candidate of the Chicago Convention, than she is to east it for the candidate of the "nigger" Democracy, to be nominated at Charleston. I am also fully of the opinon that nothing can go so fartowards insuring so desirable a result as the nomination, at Chicago, of a candidate who is recognized as a thorough Republican, instead of one whose Republicanism may only be presumed from the fact of his having been nominated by a Republican Convention. Of this I have been repeatedly assured by intelligent Republicans from different parts of the State.

EDITORS:—Now that the Democrats of the Third Judicial Circuit have had their convention, and put in nomination the present incumbent, and the bull is fairly opened, it becomes the duty of the Republicans of said Circuit to go to work, either by holding a convention to nominate, or to call on a mau that the Republicans will unite upon and run him as an independent candidate that is worthy of the office. And now the question arises, who is the right one to run? I think I can give the name of the man that can get a larger vote than any one else in the Circuit and that is Hon. A. Scott Stoan, who has been tried and who gave the best of satisfaction, both to the Republicans and Democrats. Therefore, I say, let crats of the Third Judicial Circuit have had cans and Democrats. The politicians and newspapers in the interest of Judge Douglas, or some of them, have been playing a bold game of brag. In the North they boast of his strength at the South, and in the South they seek to make the impression that he is very powerful with the Democracy of the North. Being here at the political centre of the Union, with as good opportunity as any other person of observing the signs of public feeling, I declare it to be my deliberate conviction that Douglas would be the weakest candidate that could be selected from among all the men who have yet been prominently spoken of. Deficiency or Birds Fornidden.—The destruction of all birds, except game to eat, has been recently prohibited in many of the small German States on the Rhine, and in parts of Germany. The motives urged are these: wherever the farmers have killed the rocks, jays, and even sparrows, the crops have been less than where they had been unmolested. Very able naturalists have examined this, and have reported that the vast quantity of noxious vermin which the birds destroy, greatly exceeds the small quantity of grain they destroy in searching for the insects on which they feed.

Investigation in this country has developed the same fact. The destruction of the birds of the fact. The destruction of the birds of the same fact. The destruction of the birds of the fact. The destruction of t

Investigation in this country has developed the same fact. The destruction of the birds gives hosts of insect tribes a chance for life, and these feed upon the crops and cause a far more general destruction of fruits, vegetables and cereals than is occasioned by the birds themselves. Now, as the Spring approaches, and with it the time of the singing of birds, measures should be taken to protect these warblers from murderous attacks.

She was engaged to a young American who was exceedingly devoted to her, and she preferred to die rather than submit to an operation that might make her an object of horror to her beloved. So she resigned herself to death; and re-nounced all treatment. Shut up alone, in her apartment, she counted her last days and ner spatches in prayer.

Meanwhile her funce; Mr. Arthur Ashbell, of Philadelphia, who had a commission from one of his friends to procure him some Sax horns for the United States market, went Sax horns for the United States market, went to M. Sax's house to attend to the business. Although suffering horribly, already having a monstrous tumor upon his lip, M. Sax received Mr. Ashbell. The affair of the Sax-horns being concluded, Mr. Ashbell inquired concerned M. "Oh!" said Sax, "the doctors! I should have been dead already if I had not abandoned them."
"What treatment have you then?"
"I have placed myself in the hands of the Black Doctor."
"What Black Doctor?"
"What Black Doctor?"
Sax posted Mr. Ashbel as to the Black Doctor. He admitted that ever since his treatment commenced the Black Doctor had fore-indigestion."

"That hard condition for me. Because—"
"Well ?" "Well, I agree. You give me twenty-five the States where he seems to have a majority of the politicians in his fayor.

Most of these States are Black Republican to the core, and in those which the Demoratic party might win with a good candidate, Mr. Douglas has no chance whaterer at the polls. For instance, in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Indiana, the leading Democrats have committed themselves so strongly against him, and were compelled to conduct, that they cannot possibly support him with any degree of efficiency; the utmost he could hope from them in the canwass would be the charity of their silence, and that is all they could give him consistivity with a leader upon whom it will be impossible to rally our whole force? Have we any strength to throw away?

I have no personal objections to Judge Donglas. My difference with him is entirely political. Three years ago nobody in the nation stood fairer for the next Presidency, is the still ty to Mr. Buchanan's Administration, and his bitter opposition to the body of our friends in the last Congress, have ruined his political fortunes. Hallaz."

About an hour after this interview, take, and the service was aroused by a stentorian voice shouting in his ear—

"Look about you here, my hearty. How is it; have you got honest all of a sudden, that you leave your doors open like a silver smif box, to show the engraving, ch? By my grandmother, I came in as easy this time as though your woman had been in Hallaz." THE UNDERSIGNED BEGS LEAVE

bin the constant of the policy of the policy

THE SENTINEL.

[From the Springfield Republican.] RHEUMATISM. BY THE "PLEASANT BARD." Burns had the toothache; -but, O, cracky, D'ya cree have 'o.wich' in the back,' shi? Or zweek, Solatic to attack ye.

Boring your hip?

Or rheumatian sharp to rack ye.

With twisting grip?

Toothache, for south, is had enough, But there's a remedy, the rough: Bup to the dentits in a haff, Le prompt and hold: Sit down and ery "Come on, McDuz", With fron cold!

One gentle wrench! and all is done;
'The Rolehed, even while begun,
And the' you thought earth, moon and sub,
Had smashed together,
You know that you've the victory won
And all's fair weather. But mark the man who, hais and strong, Would willing drive his work along. For work drives him :—a whistle, song, His toll be, ulles; His cattle fear not gad or thong— Their master soiles.

But, all at once, ascends a how!! He looks as solemn as an ow!; His smiles depart:  painful scow! Steals over his phis; Perhaps his language is'nt fout— Ferhaps is is.

What can have changed our smiling Joses? He stooped to lift:—O'holy Moses! O, balmy June, with all thy roses! The 'crick' he's taken, And could not lift a bunch of posies To 'save his bacon.'

With awful dignity, and slow, He seeks the crib his cattle know; Unyokes thum; hacelify bils them, Gol— Twack! there—go faster; White in-doors, grappling with the foc, Retires the master.

Ho: with red papper, is applied;
"Mustang," "Pain-killer" next is tried,
Without avail;
Some old wive's salve, but shovel dried,—
In turn to fail.

O, see him, whom no thing could frighten, Proud as a drover sais at Brighton! Now, best of markels could not lighten His aggravations; His back scored with the rock at Dighton, By "applications."

Remains half best a moment;—there
Now somes the pinch—take care!—(ake care
Just grin, and go it!
He straightens up with, Ok?—!—stocar!
As saith the poet.

His pitying, sympathotic bride Tries hard a quiet smile to hide; His golicless infants open wide Their wondering eyes, To see their lofty USION 'slide,' Holding his thighs. O, for the heart of him of old Who high-prized postage made and sold? Who wrestled with the haget, bold, Until the morating; SCIATIC, and the angel's hold, The whole time scorning.

"I will not let thee go," he said,
"Except thou be ess me," Rendur, dread,
Give me your blessing.
By human-ion,
Attribute aught amiss you've read
To Ekeamalism.

[Written expressly for the Daily Sentinel,] TWENTY STEPS

TO ONE WOMAN'S HEART. [CONTINUED.] The woman occupied herself in walking the floor, plying a needle upon some article of dress, and occasionally muttering indistinct words which died away as she approached the form of the sleeping man. Suddenly a sound caught her ear. She went to the door and listened, and then as quickly advanced to the bed and pulled down the chintz curtains which hid from view her companion. As she did this a knock was companion. As she did this a knock was heard on the door. Having stationed herself near the keyhole the young woman answered the summons by saying: "Well?" in an interrogatory manner, a proceeding which caused the knock to be repeated somewhat louder. Whereupon she opened the door and discovered a lady and gentleman. "Strike me stupid," said the gentleman,

"but that's a queer way you have of attending to visitors."
"Who do you want?" asked the woman. "We wish to see you on business for a few moments," answered Miss Ontario Tanglegrass.
The door was held open for them to enter, and the woman without relinquishing the fabric upon which she had been sawing, thrust a couple of chairs into the center of the room with her foot and waited to hear their business. "You are acquainted with a young woman by the name of Alice Stephenson, and prob-ably know her whereabouts. It is concern-ing her that we have called."

"That's it, Onte, make a straight cut to to articulate.

"I know you both; that is sufficient at present. I know that it is infinitely more to your advantage than it ever can be to mine to dispose of Miss Stephenson. I am not interested in her welfare, only as I am paid for keeping her. If you wish to get possession of her?"—here she lowered her voice to a lond whisper—"make a proposition at once."

"Where is she at present?"
"Where is she at present?"
"That is neither here not there. You must understand in the first place that I shall tell you nothing about her. If you want to strike a bargain with me, I'll talk want to strike a bargain with me, I'll talk with you."

"The reason for my asking the question, was this; I received an intimation yesterday that she was again moving in society—".

"It's a lie!" said the woman, sententiously; "She can never get ont of the clutches of the lawless crew, with whom I presume it will not be taken amiss to say you are one of—".

"Strike me stup—"."

"You need'nt hare up," she continued, interrupting Mr. Horatio Felix. "I fancy I know enough about you both to suit my purposes. A few nights ago, a party of young men from the city, ponneed on her by accident, but they made nothing. Miss Stephenson was given in my care again, and, I tell you plainly, if you will make it an object, I will put her in your hands. But you must you plainty, if you will make it an object. I will put her in your hands. But you must be quick in making up your mind. My husband is asleep on that bed, and should he wake, that would be the end of all bargains."

"What may be your object in wishing to serve me?" asked hiss Ontario.

"The get your many." Frankly analyzed.

"To get your money," frankly answered

"No, it is not. If you will give me five hundred I will deliver up the young lady and go back to England. For any sum short

I will give you a check."

"No you don't. I don't want any paper.
Do you think I am going to a bank with a demand for that amount, and have a 'shadow' on my heels?"

"Then I am at a loss how to proceed.
Will you come with me?"

The woman hesitated, finally answering:
"Yes. I guess, all things considered, that I can trust you, being I know so much more about you than you do about me. Go down and have the couch at the door. Be as quick as possible, and I will be at your house in About an hour after this interview, Mike

No. 333 Broad Street, New York THIS DELICIOUS TONIC, ESPECIAL

Medical Profession and the Family, ossesses those intrinsic medicinal properties, "onic and Diuretic] which belong to an OLD AND PURE GIN.

The business of manufacturing spurious Gins, and offering them as hoverages, under the titles, "Arcimatic," "dvordial," "Nediciated," &c. has becomes ocommon that the public are justiy associous of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute. It has remained for our house (established in 178) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inauguste a new erain the history of the Trade. We trust that our established reputation—founded upon eighty years of experience—abundantly vindicates our cisim to public confidence.
